TRADITION

Sweet TRADITIONS for the SEASON

Bake, sip, and savor the season with cookies, candies, liqueurs, and festive treats made to share.

Christmastime is the only time when it is perfectly acceptable and suitable to bake as many cookies or savory snacks as possible, guilt-free and without self-loathing. I am a baking and mixing machine when the holidays roll around, and I enjoy every minute of it.

As Southerners, food is the answer to most questions in life, especially when it comes to doing something special for someone else. Cooking for our families is a given, but cooking for others sometimes takes a bit more thought. According to my favorite holiday movie, “Elf,” “The best way to spread Christmas cheer is singing loud for all to hear.” I beg to differ and believe the best way to spread Christmas cheer is by baking madly for all to be indulged!

These recipes are perfect for gift-giving or desserts for a small gathering. Chocolate-dipped Ritz crackers with smoked sea salt are perfect for giving homemade sweets to a group of people. They are simple to make and are perfectly delicious. I collect pretty bottles throughout the year, and some of them are perfect for bottling homemade liqueurs. They are so festive-looking and luscious-tasting; they are almost too pretty to drink. Peppermint meringues are extremely easy to make, and they make the perfect sweet treat, piled up in a cute cookie tin. Indulge your friends with some homemade gifts, which will be much more appreciated than a store-bought gift or a Christmas tune. Dust off that mixer; this is your time of year to bake and mix to your heart’s desire, free from judgment! Merry Christmas, y’all! M

ICED RED MITTEN Butter Cookies

2 cups flour	1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt	1 egg
½ teaspoon baking powder	2 tablespoons brandy
½ cup softened butter	½ teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, salt, and baking powder onto a sheet of wax paper. Set aside. Using an electric mixer with a paddle attachment, cream butter and sugar until sugar is completely incorporated. With mixer running, add egg, brandy, and vanilla; beat well. Add dry ingredients a little at a time and mix until well blended. Wrap and chill dough for at least 30 minutes before rolling. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. On a lightly floured board, roll out one-third of dough at a time. Roll to about ¼ inch thick and cut out with mitten cookie cutter. Put cookies on parchment paper-lined pans, and bake for 10 minutes. Do not allow cookies to brown. Cool on racks.

FOR ICING:

1 cup confectioners’ sugar	1 egg white
----------------------------	-------------

In bowl of a mixer, mix sugar and egg white until smooth. Remove ½ cup of icing (for mitten cuffs), and add a few drops of red gel food coloring. Beat icing until red color is completely blended and desired color is achieved, adding more food coloring if needed. Fill a pastry bag with a small tip attached with the red icing. Pipe an outline of the mitten just to the top of the cuff. Fill in the cookies with remaining red icing. When red icing has dried, fill another pastry bag with white icing for the cuff. Add sprinkles if desired for decoration. Let cookies dry completely before storing them.

Yield: 2 dozen cookies

DARK CHOCOLATE-DIPPED

Ritz Crackers with Smoked Sea Salt

40 Ritz crackers
16 ounces dark chocolate,
melted with 1 teaspoon
shortening

2 tablespoons smoked sea salt
2 tablespoons sparkling sugar

Line 2 baking sheets with aluminum foil and lightly spray with vegetable oil. Keep chocolate warm over a pan of hot water to keep it melted and silky. Dip a cracker in melted chocolate and shake off any excess chocolate. Place cracker on foil-lined pan and sprinkle lightly with smoked sea salt and sparkling sugar. Repeat process until all crackers have been dipped and sprinkled. Leave chocolate-dipped crackers on pan until chocolate has hardened and is dry. Store crackers in an airtight container until ready to serve.

Yield: 40 crackers

PEPPERMINT MERINGUE Kisses

6 egg whites
Pinch salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar

1 teaspoon peppermint extract
1½ cups sugar
Red gel food coloring

Preheat oven to 225 degrees. Line 2 large baking sheets with aluminum foil. Beat egg whites until foamy. Add salt, cream of tartar, and peppermint extract, and continue beating. Add 1 teaspoon of sugar at a time, beating about 1 minute between each addition. When all sugar has been added, beat an additional 6 to 8 minutes until egg whites are very stiff, glossy, and extremely smooth. Using a large piping bag fitted with ½-inch star tip, take a paintbrush and paint stripes with red food coloring on inside of bag about ½- to 1-inch apart, beginning as close to tip and almost to top of bag. Stand bag up in a large glass or jar and carefully spoon whites into bag, leaving half of bag unfilled. Twist top of bag. Pipe kisses onto pan leaving 1 inch between each kiss. Reduce heat to 200 degrees, and bake for 1½ to 2 hours, being careful not to let meringues brown. When meringues are completely dry to touch, remove from pans and let cool completely before storing in an airtight container. Keep covered until ready to serve.

Yield: approximately 50 kisses

WHITE CHOCOLATE- DIPPED Ginger Cookies

2¼ cups flour	½ cup plus 4 table-
1 teaspoon baking soda	spoons sugar, divided
½ teaspoon salt	½ cup packed dark
2 teaspoons ground	brown sugar
ginger	1 large egg
1 teaspoon cinnamon	¼ cup molasses
¼ teaspoon ground	2 teaspoons vanilla
cloves	2 cups white chocolate
¼ teaspoon ground	chips
nutmeg	2 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup unsalted butter,	Holiday sprinkles or
softened	tinted icing (optional)

THESE RECIPES ARE PERFECT FOR

gift-giving

desserts

FOR A SMALL GATHERING.

In a mixing bowl, whisk together flour, baking soda, salt, ginger, cinnamon, cloves, and nutmeg until well combined. In the bowl of an electric stand mixer fitted with a paddle attachment, cream together butter, ½ cup sugar, and brown sugar until well combined and sugar is dissolved. Mix in egg, then add molasses and vanilla. Reduce mixer speed to low and slowly add dry ingredients. Mix until well combined. Cover bowl with plastic wrap and chill for 1 hour. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Scoop dough out, about 2 tablespoons at a time, and shape into balls. Roll each ball in remaining 3 tablespoons sugar. Line 2 baking sheets with parchment paper and place balls 2 inches apart on the baking sheets. Bake cookies for 8 to 10 minutes. Remove pans from oven and cool on wire racks to cool completely. Set a heat-proof bowl over a saucepan of barely simmering water and add chocolate chips to bowl. When the chocolate begins to melt, add shortening and gently stir until mixture is melted and smooth. Remove bowl from pan of water, being very careful not to let any water get into melted chocolate, or it will seize, and you must start over. Dip half of each cookie in melted chocolate, running bottom of cookie against edge of bowl to remove any excess. Return cookies to clean parchment paper and let chocolate harden. If decorating with sprinkles, add to cookies before chocolate completely hardens. Decorate as desired.

Yield: approximately 30 cookies

DARK CHOCOLATE Cake Shots with Ice Cream and Salted Caramel

2 cups flour	2 eggs, beaten
2 cups sugar	1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon kosher salt	1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup butter	2 cups vanilla ice cream
4 heaping tablespoons cocoa powder	½ cup whipping cream
1 cup boiling water	2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup buttermilk	¼ cup caramel sauce

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In a mixing bowl, combine flour, sugar, and salt. In a saucepan, melt butter. Add cocoa, stirring to combine. Add boiling water and allow mixture to boil for 30 seconds. Remove pan from heat and pour over flour mixture. Stir lightly to cool. Pour buttermilk in a measuring cup and add beaten eggs, baking soda, and vanilla. Stir buttermilk into cake batter and mix well. Grease an 18 x 13-inch sheet cake pan and bake for 20 minutes. When cake has completely cooled, flip pan over onto a sheet of parchment paper. Choose serving glasses that you want to use and cut cake into circles that will fit inside glass. You will need 2 to 3 cake rounds for each serving. Allow ice cream to soften a bit. While cake is cooling, whip cream and sugar together until soft peaks form. Set aside in refrigerator until ready to serve. To assemble shots, place 1 cake round in bottom of each glass, and add a heaping tablespoon of ice cream, a teaspoon of salted caramel sauce, and another circle of cake. Repeat process until glass is full. Top with a dollop of whipped cream and a drizzle of salted caramel sauce. Garnish as desired with mint leaves, candy canes, or crushed peppermint.

RASPBERRY and STRAWBERRY Liqueurs

2 cups sugar	1 pint fresh strawberries, green tops removed
1 cup water
1 pint fresh raspberries	2 cups brandy, cognac, or rum

To make simple syrup, pour sugar into a heavy-bottomed saucepan. Add water. Swirl pan over medium-high heat to dissolve sugar completely. Cook syrup to 230 degrees and remove from heat. In 2 jars with tight-fitting lids, fill one with raspberries and one with strawberries. Pour 1 part of desired liquor to one part simple syrup. (The amount used will be determined by the size of the jar or bottle.) Seal jars tightly and refrigerate for several weeks before opening. Strain and serve in cordial glasses.

Yield: 2 pints liqueur

The Wonder of MERREHOPE

THE BELOVED HOLIDAY TRADITION RETURNS
WITH DAZZLING DÉCOR, FESTIVE EVENTS, AND TIMELESS CHARM
IN MERIDIAN'S HISTORIC MANSION.

Envision a holiday wonderland filled with towering 12-foot trees, twinkling lights, merry mantels, and festive tablescapes at every turn. This season, TREES OF CHRISTMAS AT MERREHOPE CELEBRATES ITS 57TH YEAR, inviting guests to “Experience the Wonder” beginning November 23. The historic Meridian mansion transforms into a Christmas lover’s paradise, offering the perfect setting to make memories with friends and family.

“We have over 70 different trees, mantels, and displays,” says BJ Hatten, co-chair of the event. “Each one is unique and always evolving.” Decorators travel from across Mississippi and neighboring states—including Alabama, Tennessee, and Kentucky—to design their assigned spaces throughout the 20-room mansion. From doorways and tables to trees and mantels, every corner offers something new to admire.

Businesses, nonprofits, and schools also contribute to the décor. The Mississippi Children’s Museum in Meridian creates bird feeder ornaments for the garden patio, while local businesses sponsor and decorate trees. Teachers from area schools provide handmade ornaments crafted by their students. “They’re very talented young people; it’s unbelievable what they come up with,” adds Hatten.

ABOVE: Merrehope, also known as the Frank W. Williams home, is a Neoclassical Revival mansion. The home is now a historic house museum and plays hosts to numerous events in Meridian. OPPOSITE: Decorators travel from across Mississippi and surrounding states to design and decorate every space in the historic 20-room mansion.

writer KELSEY DEVAZIER PERRY

HISTORIC TOUCHES REMAIN AN ESSENTIAL PART OF THE CELEBRATION.

"We also try to bring back a historic tree, called our 'Vintage Tree,'" says Bet Deweese, co-chair. "This year, we're also bringing back something that Merrehope used to be known for—Red Riding Hood flip dolls." These handmade "topsy-turvy" dolls are designed to feature different characters, depending on which way they're held. One end features Red Riding Hood, while the other end represents the grandmother. Pull the grandmother's bonnet back, and there's the wolf. "Back around 1969, when the dolls were made, they were sold in the gift shop," says Deweese. Visitors can also explore an exhibit tracing the event's history and evolution. The gift shop, which historically featured only handmade items, some of which were found on the Christmas trees, also features handcrafted stained glass, Mississippi-made items, and other unique finds.

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: Each room is artfully styled by individual designers, local schools, nonprofit organizations, and businesses. Guests can enjoy different themes and displays at every corner of the mansion. Photographs are welcome in front of the towering 12-foot trees. OPPOSITE, TOP AND BOTTOM: In addition to Christmas trees, guests can view other decorated spaces in the mansion, including tablescapes, mantels, and more. The timeless charm and historical touches remain integral to the holiday wonder during the Christmas season.

“WE HAVE OVER

DIFFERENT
TREES, MANTELS,
AND DISPLAYS.

EACH ONE IS UNIQUE
and ALWAYS EVOLVING.”

- BJ HATTEN

Throughout the season, Merrehope hosts a series of special events. The festivities begin November 23 with the Experience the Wonder Unveiling, featuring live music and holiday refreshments. On December 7, Santa and Mrs. Claus arrive for photos, cocoa, and cookies. December 13 brings Mimosas at Merrehope, a brunch with live music, while December 16 offers a serene yoga and meditation session under the glow of Christmas lights. “All the lights are cut off, except for the Christmas lights,” says Hatten. “It’s a really unique experience.”

Guests can enjoy the mansion by night during the Spirits of Christmas tour on December 18, a bring-your-own-spirits evening that showcases the house aglow. “Our usual tours run in the daytime,” says Deweese. “SO, YOU CAN ONLY IMAGINE THE WHOLE HOUSE LIT UP AT NIGHT WITH ALL THE CHRISTMAS TREES; IT’S JUST BEAUTIFUL.” On December 20, families can join the Grinch Porch Party, featuring whimsical Whoville refreshments and photo opportunities with the Grinch. The season concludes December 31 with the Toast Together reception, where visitors raise a glass to the new year. “We see a lot of people who wait until that last day to come just so they can help us toast to the new year,” adds Hatten.

Though the mansion closes in January, planning for the next Trees of Christmas begins almost immediately. “Our decorators like to know the theme well in advance so that they can start their own planning for their tree decorating,” says Deweese. “Some of our early planning is to be able to give information out to them.”

Whether you’re looking for a holiday outing or hoping to begin a new tradition, Trees of Christmas at Merrehope offers an enchanting way to celebrate the season. All proceeds go to continued restoration efforts of the historic mansion. M

TOP AND BOTTOM: Guests can occasionally find ornaments on the trees for sale in the gift shop, along with other unique finds and Mississippi-made items. The displays and décor are always revolving and different, so there’s something new and fresh to see year after year. OPPOSITE, CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT: Each room in the mansion is uniquely decorated for guests to experience and explore. Trees of Christmas at Merrehope has been recognized by USA Today’s “10 Best Holiday Historic Home Tours.” Private events can be scheduled during the Trees of Christmas season for guests to enjoy the holiday décor. In addition to regular tours, there are special events sprinkled throughout the season.

CHEESE STRAWS KEYLIME SNAPS HOLIDAY SHORTBREADS

tradition

THANKSGIVING, as most Americans know it, was set in motion by Abraham Lincoln in 1863, when he proclaimed the last Thursday of November as the day of national thanks. For decades, families gathered on that day without question. But in 1939, President Franklin D. Roosevelt rattled the nation's sense of tradition—and gave retailers something to cheer about—when he declared Thanksgiving would be celebrated on the fourth Thursday of November.

At first glance, the change might not seem drastic. In most years, the fourth Thursday was also the last Thursday. But in 1939—and occasionally thereafter—November happened to have five Thursdays. That meant Thanksgiving would come a full week early.

Roosevelt made the announcement in August while vacationing at Campobello Island in New Brunswick. He explained that merchants had lobbied for the shift, urging him to move Thanksgiving from November 30 to November 23. Tradition, he reminded the public, was not law; Thanksgiving could be held on any day the president chose.

For retailers, the change was a godsend. An earlier Thanksgiving stretched out the shopping season, allowing more time for Christmas sales, boosting employment, and easing the stress of last-minute gift buying.

But not everyone was pleased. Football coaches fumed. For years, Thanksgiving Day had been reserved for marquee college games, and schedules for November 30 had already been set. If the holiday suddenly became just another workday, who would show up in the stands? Changing the schedules midseason was nearly impossible.

The public, too, was torn. Roosevelt's order applied only to the District of Columbia and the territories, leaving each state to choose its own date. The result was chaos. Twenty-two states observed Thanksgiving on November 23, while twenty-three others stuck to the 30th. THREE STATES—COLORADO, MISSISSIPPI, AND TEXAS—DECIDED NOT TO CHOOSE AT ALL AND CELEBRATED ON BOTH DATES, PLEASING FAMILIES AND FOOTBALL TEAMS ALIKE.

The national confusion dragged on for two years, until Congress stepped in. In 1941, lawmakers passed a bill—signed by Roosevelt—that permanently established the fourth Thursday of November as Thanksgiving Day. The holiday calendar was finally set, and the government could turn its full attention to more pressing matters: winning World War II. M
